Early in the battle, it became obvious that there was a need for cannon fodder troops to fight Scrooge's Ninjas. While the Snowmen filled this need quite admirably, they proved to be less useful than originally thought. A call went out to all the people of the North Pole for help, and the Muffin Man answered the call!

Utilizing a special recipe handed down for generations, the Muffin Man set about cooking up the best possible troops. They fight fiercely, and will not rout. And with the leadership of the Doughboy, they are the perfect things to use in a desperate battle.
